Virginia,

Orders in question. Virginia, these incidents are not your fault and I'm not blaming you. Unfortunately your job is just to jerk when the puppet master pulls the strings. I feel very badly for the conditions under which you and others have to work. If we were left alone to run the operation like it should have been from the start none of this would have been a problem. If Norm weren't afflicted by the 'little man syndrome' and be such a prick, this whole operation would not be suffering like it is. I know your are in the middle doing your best. I need to touch base with Mike, can you give me the spelling of his last name.

Thanks,
lcs
